NOT IN RACE, TISH DECLARES

DENIAL NOT UNQUALIFIED

"Unconcerned at Present" is Statement; Would be a Dangerous Opponent

William S. Tish, former mayor will not be a candidate for the probate judgeship according to the tenor of his statement given out Thursday.

The former mayor did not give an unqualified denial of the current rumor that he is to be a candidate, but expressed himself as "unconcerned at the present."

When asked concerning the rumor of his candidacy, Tish declared that it was "the first he had heard of it." He intimated strongly, however, that he has no present intention of coming out for the office.

The rumor that Tish would be a candidate for the office has been gaining strength during the past few days among local party leaders.

Just what result would follow from his tossing his hat into the ring is hard to determine, but it is safe to assume that his entry into the race would make the other Democratic candidates the least bit uncomfortable in view of the fact that Tish was a Democrat prior to his Wage Earner bolt.

Tish's two terms as mayor here have made him a careful, if not a veteran campaigner, and, once in the race, it is likely that he would exert himself to his utmost.

MOVE TO RELIEVE PEN CONGESTION

COLUMBUS, March 6—Governor Donahey is expected today to take action on a letter received from clemency board recommending that common pleas judges thruout the state exercise their power to suspending sentences more frequently in relieving the prisons of congestion.

Realty Prices Firm Here; Idle Mines Only Retarding Factor

Real estate prices in Coshocton are not decreasing and every indication points to more building this spring than a year ago.

"The only retarding influence in this community," said E. A. Crawford, secretary-treasurer of the Home Building Loan and Savings Company, "is inactivity of mines and miners.

"According to the present outlook there will be more building done this season than last. Judging from prices received for Coshocton properties this spring that also sold last spring, real estate prices are about ten percent higher than last year. The demand for building loans is in excess of the amount of money available."

Mr. Crawford added that local conditions are in a great measure in accord with the situation thruout the state. A recent state-wide survey, he said, conducted by James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League, of Columbus, in which he secured the viewpoints of more than 500 secretaries of building and loan associations, showed as follows:

1. Few sections of the state reported lower real estate values.
2. In most sections the demand for building loans indicated more construction work than a year ago.
3. Building and loan men look for the building boom to continue despite higher wages in building trades and soaring prices of building materials.
4. In their opinion only a lack of funds with which to finance the demand for building loans might curtail building operations.
5. Loan associations are short of money now because of an unprecedented demand during the winter months for construction loans.
6. The survey, both in Coshocton and elsewhere, showed few men out of work, slightly decreasing rents and prospects for good business conditions during the spring months. Many sections reported business better than last fall, when conditions were rather spotty.
7. There is need for 100,000 new homes in Ohio.

CALKINS CO. GETS SUPPORT OF BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N IN DIRECTORY CONTROVERSY

The directory war between the Purdy Directory Co. and the Calkin-Kelly Directory Co. was settled at a meeting of the executive committee of the Coshocton Business Men's Association Thursday morning which really constituted an adjourned meeting of the entire association, which was held Wednesday evening.

The Wednesday evening meeting of the association was called especially to discuss the directory proposition. The meeting was a large one and attended by representatives of every line of business of the city. The matter was thoroly discussed from every angle [illegible] the decision of the members that they would support [illegible] compiled by the Calkin-Kelly Co., provided that a certain additional feature would be agreed to by Mr. Calkin.

The final vote on the project was unanimous. Both directory companies submitted several samples together with a scale of prices for their various books. As it was impossible Wednesday evening to get in touch with representatives of either company, it was decided to authorize the executive committee to meet with such representatives Thursday morning and announce the decision of the association.

A representative of the Purdy Co. was in Coshocton first and started to compile a directory. Later Mr. Calkin came in the interest of his company.

Both companies, realizing that the publication of two books here would be a financial hardship on the local business men's interests as well as a loss to the publishers, agreed to have the matter settled by the Business Men's Association.

After studying over carefully the features of each book, the executive committee decided in favor of the Calkin-Kelly Company.

It is understood that each representative had secured a large number of contracts. Now that the dispute is settled, Mr. Calkin will make an effort to secure a transfer of the contracts held by the Purdy representative.

The new directory will have many added features over the last publication. One of the features will be a street directory and the classifications of persons living on the eight rural routes out of Coshocton. The names of the families on the routes and in the street directory will be designated by an asterisk if they own property. A rural directory is a new feature in local directories and is considered valuable by the retail merchants.

Names of all persons on the routes and in this city over 18 years of age, will be published in the book.

This telegram was read into the records of the senate public lands committee shortly after it went into session this morning to examine a new batch of about 75 telegrams secured from the Western Union and Postal files—

"Washington, January 12.

"E. B. McLean, Palm Beach.

KEEP ONLY STANDARD-BRED POULTRY, ROSS' ADVICE TO COSHOCTON-CO POULTRY MEN

"Keep only standard-bred poultry," said C. H. Ross, director of vocational agriculture in Coshocton high school, in the summarization of his instructions during the ten lesson course in poultry husbandry conducted the past month at Muskingum Valley grange hall. "And for breeding stock use only birds with good health and vigor and good producing records. For the heavy breeds use one male to ten or 12 hens, for medium breeds one male to 15 hens, and for egg breeds one male to 20 hens. Use cockerels with hens and cocks with pullets. Keep breeding stock on free range and make matings two to three weeks before beginning to save eggs for hatching."

This advice from Mr. Ross is especially timely now, in view of the fact that with the coming of the sunny March days "Biddy" will begin to "broadcast" her daily program and the Coshoctonsa poultryman and farmer's wife will rig up the incubator or gather up the old soap boxes for the season's campaign.

Mr. Ross's instructions throughout his course were in strict accord with the ten rules, dubbed the "Big Ten" by poultry extension specialists at the Ohio State University, which will be the backbone of a new state-wide organized effort to establish better methods of rearing chicks on Ohio farms.

Once these recommendations are followed, the specialists say, Ohio poultrymen should have chickens that eventually will be capable of high egg production. To spread the "Big Ten" to as many poultrymen as possible, county extension agents are obtaining as co-operators those poultrymen willing to test the statement that good methods in rearing chicks pay. The project began February 1 and will continue until November 1. County Agent G. C. Musgrove, Mr. Ross or A. E. Halterman, director of vocational agriculture in West Lafayette high school, can supply literature and information relative to the project.

As arranged by the university poultrymen the "Big Ten" rules are—

1—Have brooder house thoroly disinfected and on good sod, or move to ground where there is good sod.

2—Rear young stock separate from old stock, and do not allow them to range together.

3—Have at least one square foot of space for every four chicks and have a stove large enough to care for the house capacity.

4—Do not hatch later than May 15.

5—Do not feed for at least 48 hours after hatching.

6—Feed milk in some form at least eight weeks.

7—Feed the Ohio ration or some other approved ration all summer.

8—Provide green food in some form thruout the summer.

9—Separate cockerels and pullets at six to eight weeks and dispose of same, except those kept for breeders.

10—Get chicks out on ground as soon as weather permits.

or vetoing a bill that ultimately will follow very closely the rates therein prescribed, notwithstanding they are a far cry from the original Mellon rates. They have advised the President, too, that the bill should be approved. Republican leaders do not believe the country "would understand or accept" a veto of a measure that affords such widespread tax relief as is contained in the Longworth Bill, notwithstanding the fact that business interests generally disapprove of the 37½ per cent surtax.

The Senate Finance Committee probably will render a majority report. But as in the house, the certainty exists that these rates will be beaten in voting on the floor and the Longworth or Democratic rates substantiated.

Room No. 104, Park Hotel Until Thursday, March the 13th, Is Your Opportunity

Dr. Frederick Blankner, the distinguished Chicago Specialist is compelled to extend his visit until Thursday, March 13th, and it is indeed your opportunity to make a little journey to room No. 104 if afflicted in any way with a complicated chronic disease. There are many people in this county that are so physically out of balance that the enjoyment of health, happiness and joy is an impossibility and would indeed be willing to do most anything to gain possession of a little bit of health—well why not make the journey. You know the place and the time. Dr. Blankner has accomplished much for unfortunates and his skill and ability to help those who have been burdened has been demonstrated many times and it is from this fact that his services have been in demand and it is for this reason that he has to extend his time.

Just a little stomach trouble, liver, bowel, kidney or nervous manifestations, yes you say it is a little but you find many times that the call of eternity is yours just for a little neglect. Rheumatism afflicts many people, goiter, a very common thing and any day you can see many people in your neighborhood who have goiter and yet they neglect until seriousness overtakes them, then they would be willing to give the earth for a cure, when a little journey to room No. 104, might accomplished grand and glorious results.

Mr Alex Beal of Warsaw, had known of Dr Blankner for a long while and yet he was skeptical and for his skepticism he had to suffer many days but finally he thought he would try and made the journey to room No. 104. He had suffered with neuralgia as a result of diseased teeth. Complained that he had several teeth that were in a high state of agitation. Even when he had sat down in the easy go-as-you-please rocking chair he was an unbeliever of painless extraction. He just knew it was going to be awful, well what happened, any twenty teeth were extracted, so great was his surprise that he said, "Well no wonder the people smile and say God bless the doctor." See Mr. Beal and he will verify all herein said and more to. Yes, the opportunity is yours just as it was for Mr. Beal, but you will have to make the journey to room No. 104, to realize the results of Dr. Blankner's skill.

WHY SUFFER FROM BRONCHIAL ASTHMA?

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy

Just because you start the day tired, lifeless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable Asthma—do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidaze, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass., physician.

For any form of Asthma where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, its healing, relieving action is really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breathe at night and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidaze gives.

Oxidaze is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient dissolves in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a real comfortable night's sleep

It is sold by Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co. and all leading druggists who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidaze a trial. It is harmless and inexpensive.

Timely Tips and Suggestions on the Latest Diagrams and Hook-Ups—Simplified

By CARLTON E. BUTLER.

A short time ago I mentioned the curious fact that the boy from the grade school with a receiving set consisting of home-made parts scattered haphazardly over the kitchen table, seemingly a maze of junk and wire, nearly always seemed to get results. With a single tube he often hears stations that the man with the high priced factory built outfit in a beautiful cabinet never hears.

The man with the expensive receiver is dissatisfied and letters pour in to the radio editor daily requesting information on "How can I add a wavetrap?" "How can I add a stage of radio, a push pull amplifier, an extra condenser, etc., to enable me to bring in distant stations?"

Additional amplification is indeed necessary on the average set in order to use a loud speaker. However, before you loudly condemn the cricuit you are using or the manufacturer of your set, let us see if there isn't something you can do to improve the present outfit so that it will come through a bit better.

I believe there are good reasons why the boy with the junk pile is having good luck. He is succeeding, in spite of, and not because of, the way his apparatus is connected together. In the first place the lad has patience unlimited, time to spare, and plenty of youthful enthusiasm and vision to carry him over the discouraging periods when it seems as if the thing will never work.

Giving up or calling in someone else to do the work for him never enters his mind. He will ask questions of anyone who will show signs of knowing anything about radio. The lad is continually experimenting and trying out new adjustments to his set until every part of the circuit is balanced and contains just the correct value inductance or capacity to work best.

I am sure that your set, if it is not working properly, can be made to operate satisfactorily no matter what circuit you are using. Try experimenting with the number of turns on your inductance units. Perhaps a few more turns will enable you to tune in the station you have not heard so far.

SINCLAIR STABLES WON'T SEND ZEV OR GREY LAG ABROAD

(By DAVID J. WALSH)

NEW YORK, March 5. — Altho all concerned are maintaining a discreet silence on the subject, the tip is being passed along that Harry Sinclair will allow neither Zev nor Grey Lag to go to England this summer as scheduled for the Ascot cup race.

Sinclair himself is referring all inquiries to his trainer, Sam Hildreth, with the trite remark that Hildreth knows all about the racing end of the Sinclair interests.

Hildreth is buried in the Hinterland of New Jersey at the Rancocas farm and might be reached by carrier pigeon.

The preamble of the story in circulation is that Grey Lag has been retired to stud. This, if true, means that he will do no racing this summer, here or abroad. It is significant that the thorobred has been withdrawn for all local stake races for which he was named.

The climax of the story revolves around Zev and his much ballyhooed trip to European tracks next season to race Epinard, Papyrus and the foreign field in general. Unlike Grey Lag, his stable mate, Zev undoubtedly is due for a full season of racing but, according to all accounts, it will be done in America.

The three-year-old champion faces an even sterner campaign right here than that in which he indulged during 1923. It is said that his handlers have no intention of impairing his racing speed by an early season trip abroad.

He is scheduled for a series of three races with Epinard, the French champion: In Memoriam, the Kentucky star; and others at Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Latonia early in the fall. Hildreth expects to bring his star to top speed for these tests.

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with indigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like, 15c and 30c.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky.—"I was rundown, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much."—Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Kentucky.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

BUCKEYE BREVITIES
Gathered by I. N. S.

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT.

Some time ago Dr. F. A. McCullough, Mansfield, Ohio, was the victim of an automobile thief. And, when his car disappeared a few nights ago, he lost no time in quickly telling police about it.

The physician made a call and while attending his patient the auto disappeared from its parking space. Some few minutes passed before all the Mansfield night police knew about it, but when they did—well, they're an efficient lot, and his car was recovered.

The woman who drove it had to satisfy the blue-coats it was her car as well as the doctor's, in her view, at least, and when an agreement was reached finally, she was released.

Mrs. McCullough, the physician's wife, desiring to "run over and see a friend," slid behind the steering wheel and drove the car away, unbeknown to her husband.

Hence, the supposed theft.

DEFIANCE—Sweeping through the eight-room frame structure in a half hour, fire burned it to the ground, leaving Frank Minsel and his family homeless. The damage was $4000.

BELLAIRE—Community showers are more popular here than the April variety. Neighbors of Calvin Daugherty are giving a series of such events for him. He lost all possessions when his home burned to the ground.

CADIZ—The funeral of Carl Jones, killed when a ladder fell while he was installing a radio, was attended by 70 robed klansmen.

DILLES—Albert Brown, 28, was fatally hurt while working a double shift in a coal mine that he might get the following day off to celebrate his birthday.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — Emerson Campbell, tax agent for the Eastern Ohio mine owners association, is said to be about to purchase the St. Clairsville Gazette, Democratic organ of Belmont county. The paper is the oldest in Belmont county, having been published since 1812. Mr. Campbell is a former Democratic county auditor.

MT. PLEASANT—Thirty robed klansmen left $105 in an envelope after visiting the Methodist Episcopal Church here during special services last week.

BRIDGEPORT—Mamie Adams, Brookside, has received a verdict in Belmont county common pleas court against Beatrice M. Remley for $200 damages for injuries sustained in a fight. Testimony given the jury showed that an argument about the condition of a front yard led to the battle.

ELYRIA—Lorain County Farm Agent Howard Rogers reports that because of no money in farming due largely to high cost of help, thirty farms in this county are practically abandoned. Rogers said that county farmers are going more into dairying and that in this respect the county is fourth in the state.

DELAWARE—Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega, national women's fraternities, have granted charters to Phi Omega Phi and Alpha Lambda Iota, local fraternities at Ohio Wesleyan University, according to word just received here. This brings the total of national chapters granted to Ohio Wesleyan coeds this school year to five.

LIMA—After pending since 1922, a divorce case was settled here by Judge Fred G. Becker in granting legal separation to Jesse R. John, farmer, of near Elida, and his wife, Mrs. Edith John. He testified she tired of farm life objected to his brother's presence on the farm, which they worked together, and wanted him to quit and open up a moving picture show. She gets $500 alimony and each will share companionship of a small son for specified periods each year.

BELMONT—Mrs. William Porterfield, 88, who spent her entire life in the same community, died here of a few days illness from pneumonia. She and her husband, who is 84, recently celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary.

ELYRIA — W. F. Kneisel, of Brownhelm, broke the record when he raised 1670 pounds of pork from one litter of pigs in six months. The litter contained twelve Chester White pigs.

STEER FEEDING EXPERIMENTS

Sixty white-faced Colorado steers are on a feeding test this winter at the Ohio Experiment Station. These steers will be one of the main exhibits on Livestock Day to be held some time this spring.

The purpose of the experiments is to answer questions of vital interest to cattle feeders. Some of these questions are: Does it pay to feed oilmeal in a steer ration, or should it be omitted when steers are fed corn, hay, and corn silage? How do soybeans compare with oilmeal in a steer ration? How does soybean hay compare with clover mixed hay when fed with corn and silage? Will such high-protein roughage as soybean hay make up for the lack of oilmeal or other protein concentrate in the ration? How do calves, yearlings, and two-year-old feeder steers compare in economy and profitableness?

The various tests will interest cattle feeders many of whom will attend the Livestock Day at the Station, the date for which will be announced later.

Why Fear Child-birth

EXPECTANT mothers do not undergo useless suffering any longer, and baby's birth can be made gloriously easier.

Mrs. Wm. Flack, 115 N. 12th St., Leavenworth, Kansas, says: "'Mother's Friend' is the best help in the world for an expectant mother. I am the mother of three children and have found 'Mother's Friend' fine."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied about the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates wonderfully, and in this way allows the muscles and ligaments to relax easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and at child-birth.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-73, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet containing valuable information every expectant mother should have.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases and plain oils. Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

Sixth St. Theatre

"LISTEN TO ME" A NOVEL MUSICAL EXTRAVAGANZA

The musical extravaganza, "Listen To Me," coming to the Sixth Street theatre Saturday night, March 8th, tells a fantastic story through a series of brilliant novelties. The play opens with a scene o'er the roof tops of Times Square—New York City, where J. Lucifer Devil muses over the throng of pleasure seekers along the thorofare below. He summons to his aid six temptations from the procession below and accompanies them into Hades, where many movie stars and actors are awaiting punishment. He confides to his fiance, when in mortal form that he was a scientist and had discovered a miraculous liquid and powder that would transform and re-incarnate. One of the condemned overhears him reveal the possibilities of his discovery and obtains access to the coveted formula. To evade punishment, the comedian realizes the action of formula will effect his escape and applies them freely. Immediately the devil's palace transforms into the frozen north and characters are re-incarnated into beings of the north pole.

But conditions in the frigid zone did not perfect his desire and once more he tempers nature by turning the arctic into candyland, where characters assume the likeness of candy until the end of the performance when a novel climax adjusts the situation.

Snappy Dancing Show "LIZA"

Coming to the 6th street Theatre on Tuesday, March 11, for the first time in this city will be the musical comedy sensation "Liza" which ran for an entire season at Daly's and Bayes Theatres New York and is to be seen here with its original cast and equipment. The company is a large one carrying over forty people and a beauty chorus that is noted for its fast dancing. "Liza" is just three hours of clean comedy, whirlwind dancing, haunting music, all combined in a consistent plot making it an unusual and novel performance that is bound to please theatregoers that demand the best in theatrical endeavor.

Mexican Bean Beetle

The Mexican bean beetle is known to have reached Ohio in 1923 and to be present in ten counties in the southern and south central part of the state. The beetles may be expected to appear in this area about the time beans are up in the spring.

They reproduce very rapidly, say entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and of the Ohio Experiment Station who are in charge of investigations of the pest. The female lays an average of ten groups of 40 to 70 eggs each. The eggs hatch in six or seven days and the larvae develop, pupate emerge as adults and begin egg laying in about 30 days.

This pest has been known in western United States for 75 years having come originally from Mexico, where it is still present. It first appeared east of the Mississippi in Alabama in 1920 whence it has spread rapidly, reaching Ohio in 1923, or possibly in 1922. It is quite likely the bean crop in the worst infested areas of Ohio will be seriously injured this year, entomologists state.

For drilling holes in railroad rails for bolts or electric bonding there has been invented a machine both propelled and operated by a gasoline motor.

America's Trade Position

THE American stock of gold, which was $4,247,200,861 at the end of 1923, was too large for domestic needs by at least one-third. It was the outcome of war that left this nation the most stable of all in industry and finance.

Of the world's gold supply it now possesses about 48 percent. Ultimately a better balanced world trade will bring about a more equitable distribution. A preliminary to that is likely to be more foreign loans. The signs point to the United States as international banker in a growing way. Rightly supervised and directed, this means immense trade possibilities and stable prosperity.

Judicious foreign financing raised Great Britain to pre-eminence in commerce. It still remains a great creditor country, but it has not the resources to make loans on the scale that the United States can. Before the war Great Britain had about $15,000,000,000 in foreign investments. How much that was diminished is not known. Reginald McKenna, formerly chancellor of the exchequer, has said that "England still owns sufficient securities to cover her debt to the United States two or three times over." That means that much of the income from them must come to this nation, directly or indirectly, in debt payments. And every dollar of surplus gold over domestic needs will finance loans of two or three times the amount, conservatively.

The present opportunity, of course, implies a duty, both to the American people and to the world, for trade on a correct basis is mutually beneficial. The loans may be either to governments or to private interests. When a bank loan of $150,000,000 was made recently to Japan it was an addition to a total of $1,146,750,000 of such dealings with European nations since the war. Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Sweden, Switzerland and even Great Britain are in the list. Already $108,020,900 has been repaid.

Economically, if not politically, American influence is reaching out as never before.

A Future Conscription Of Wealth?

THE late President Harding bequeathed to the country a plan for war preparedness which is bearing fruit in legislative proposals with substantial support in Congress.

In one of his addresses he declared that "every plant, agency or facility" should be conscripted in the event of a future war, and that "not one penny of profit shall inure to the benefit of private individuals, corporations or combinations for war materials." Doubtless the general public forgot this suggestion in the press of other issues and legislation pressing upon Congress; but the present, with its sharp reawakening of the public conscience, seems a propitious time in which to bring it into the foreground.

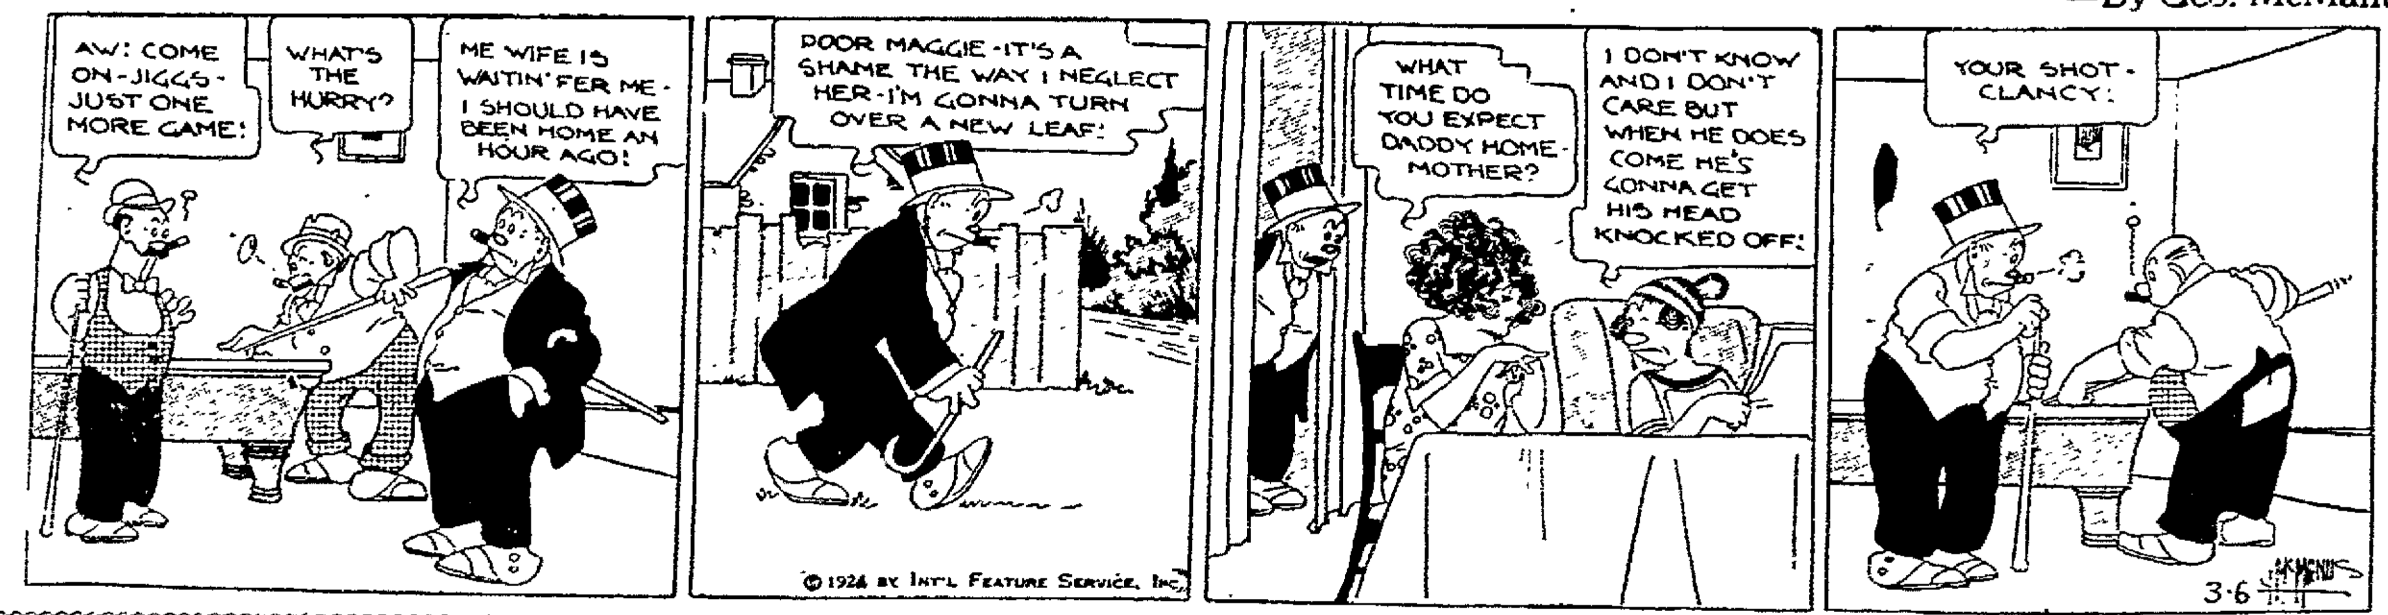

In both the House and Senate the legislation effectuating the principle has been introduced, and in the lower chamber hearings upon it will begin next month. It is significant that the American Legion will join hands with a score or more of organizations of the pacifist or "peace promotion" type in advocating its passage. The American Legion, indeed, accepting the principle of the conscription of man-power, and enmeshed in huge difficulties in trying to attach an economic value to the man-power in war, is justified in attacking the other end of the equation and in trying to establish the principle of conscription for all the nation's material as well as human resources. The peace organizations, most of them believing that all wars are economic in origin and promoted by munitions manufacturers and other vested interests, naturally aver that the bottom will drop out of war if the profit motive is taken out of it.

Of course, the nation need not adopt such an extremist viewpoint, nor support the principle of the wholesale conscription of wealth in war, to favor legislation which will aim to make future war-time profiteering impossible and, indeed, to take profits out of the war equation entirely. It is feasible, doubtless, to enact such legislation; to enact a preparedness bill calling for the mobilization of all the country's resources under the direction of the Federal Government when war comes again, if ever; to give the war-making power complete control over industry and to provide specifically that no profit shall be made out of service rendered to the country. Legislation of this sort, if it admits of practical application, is broad enough in scope to satisfy the country.

It will be interesting to observe the attitude adopted by the characteristic groups shouting always for more and more preparedness for war toward this proposal. They have demanded universal military training, a greater navy and a larger army; and they cannot fail to recognize the necessity of economic preparedness. In fact, it cannot be disputed that economic preparedness is fundamental, and must precede real military preparedness. The details of the legislation will be awaited with great interest. The public is proverbially of a short memory, but the lessons of the World War have been seared into its heart and conscience.

New York Day-by-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March ... [illegible]

... morbid and melancholy and regards all men as satyrs.

Six years ago the girl landed on Broadway with pouting lips and baby stare. Her wardrobe consisted of a faded blue serge suit, run over shoes and a tam o'shanter. She sought theatrical engagements vainly and became a polite cadger of dinners.

Her vivacity and wit in the face of misfortune were cherished by the pack that lives for the day. One night she came into a cafe near the Metropolitan her skirts dripping rain. She said good-bye to her friends. "I've found a live one," she said. A week later she owned a limousine and had an apartment on Riverside Drive tra la.

They buried the white wife of a Chinese from a home in Chinatown the other day. Her throat had been cut while she slept. She was once a beautiful girl of the chorus who crossed the color line in quest of romance and found grisly death instead. Six other white wives of Chinese accompanied the remains to the grave. Two of them admitted it was the first time they had left the narrow streets of Chinatown since marriage.

In one of the smartest social gatherings in New York attended by some 500 women only seven heads were unbobbed. Nearly all were cut in the reigning fashion known as the boy bob. The hair is straight without waves or curls. Clothes further the Paris style of making the young woman resemble a boy. They have Buster Brown collars, loose box coats and patched pockets in which handkerchiefs are tucked. All the skirts for street wear are short. Hats are unadorned and fit snugly to the head.

The proprietor of one of the biggest chain of candy shops in New York issues the following order to all new salesgirls. "Our candy is pure and fresh. You are privileged to help yourself at all times. Eat all you want." As a result after the first few days no candy is eaten.

Shrubs And Flowers Beautify The Home

Many home surroundings could be greatly improved in appearance by the judicious setting of hardy plants, shrubs, and trees. Groups of hardy shrubbery of the more desirable species may be planted in angles of the home grounds, along the foundation lines of buildings, and in undulating borders along the boundary lines of the lawn.

It is usually best, says F. H. Ballou of the Ohio Experiment Station, to leave the lawn itself remain open and free from all planting except a shade tree here and there where shade is really desirable. Trees of freakish habit of growth, as a rule, should be avoided. Evergreens in groups, or screens are beautiful at all seasons, especially in winter, and are a useful background and border.

Low-growing flowering plants may form marginal groups and borders, but they should not be grown in beds indiscriminately over the lawn.

MESSAGES

The second was sent only a short time before McLean returned to Washington in response to advices from his representatives here that he had better return immediately because of the imminence of his being subpoenaed before the investigating committee.

The Coolidge messages created a profound sensation in the crowded committee room.

WASHINGTON, March 6—Senate oil investigators today took definite steps to identify "the principal" so mysteriously and frequently mentioned in the famous McLean telegrams.

Members of the public lands committee, while expressing the belief that the "principal" referred to an official of high place in the government would not comment, however on the charge of Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama, that it referred to President Coolidge, the whitehouse was silent on the charge.

To clear up the mystery and remove all suspicion surrounding the name the committee summoned Ira E. Bennett, editorial writer on the Washington Post, McLean's paper, to appear. Bennett, on January 29, mentioned "the principal" in this message to E. B. McLean at Palm Beach—

"Saw principal. Delivered message. He says greatly appreciates and sends regards to you and Mrs. McLean. There will be no rocking of the boat and no resignations. He expects reaction from unwarranted political attacks."

The white house steadfastly maintained silence and Bennett refused to comment. Members of the committee were close lipped. Rumors and insinuations flew thick and fast. Bennett frequently sees President Coolidge—sometimes his name being on the engagement list, and other times his calls being more informal.

In the telegrams mention also was made of William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice and other governmental officials.

Beside Bennett others under subpoena today included Mary Quigley, telephone operator at the Post, John F. Major and W. O. Duckstein, McLean's confidential men, Gaston B. Means, former agent of the department of justice and Fred Starek of the War Finance Corporation.

Opposition to Samuel Knight, of San Francisco, as special counsel to prosecute the oil lease cases against the Standard Oil Co., of California grew in Democratic circles today.

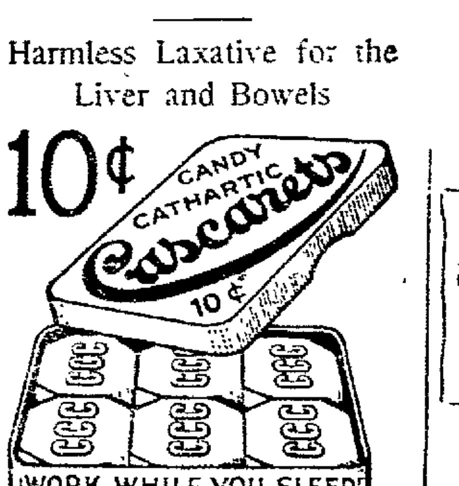

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, who declared Knight was connected with a Rockefeller bank, led the attack against the confirmation.

WASHINGTON, March 6—Within a few moments after word reached the white house that the telegrams had been made public, President Coolidge said:

"The telegram related to the district commissionership. Samuel J. Prescott is Republican city chairman and the president desired to confer with him regarding district (of Columbia) matters."

SPOTLESS NEWSPAPERS

There are men so highly moral that they gnash their teeth and say, "Certainly we have a quarrel with the journals of today; they are frightful things to study; they are vicious, they are vain, for they chronicle the bloody and the sinful and profane. Is there in an alley, murder noxious and unclean? You will see reporters rally by the dozen to the scene. Does some hoodlum cut some capers while inspired by bootleg drink? There'll be scareheads in the papers and a splash of crimson ink. Are there scandals and divorces? They'll be printed, never fear; felons run their evil courses, and they'll get three columns clear. They will chronicle, my master, all that savors of disgrace, but a conference of pastors doesn't get an inch of space. They are diligent collectors of the ribald and the vile, but a soiree of rectors isn't worth the paper's while." But the papers, oh, the papers, they are wiser than they look; they're the builders and the shapers of our destinies, gadzook. And they advertise the sinner who has set the town aghast, that he may not be a winner when the roundup comes at last. For our lovely, growing village it will be an evil day, when the men of crime and pillage go unmarked upon their way. We'll have reached disaster's border when the papers cease to toil in the cause of law and order, spearing spoilmen and their spoil.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING IN BIRDVILLE.

IT certainly caused quite a stir in the orchard when Mr. and Mrs. Red-eyed Vireo came to live there.

In the first place, most of the songsters thought that Daddy and Mama Red-eyed Vireo must have some terrible eye trouble, for their eyes were very red.

Jenny Wren, who couldn't stand it any longer, went over to call on the new family and asked right out why their eyes were red.

"For the very same reason that the cap on my head is gray," laughed Mama Red-eyed Vireo, "the same reason that your eyes are not red, my friend. I guess we are noted for our red eyes and funny little gray, slanty caps. I rather like them both, for they make us distinguished-looking and more dignified than some of our friends."

Jenny Wren felt very foolish and made her call rather short, much to

Jenny Wren Felt Very Foolish.

Mama Red-eyed Vireo's amusement.

Then when a declamatory voice sounded over the meadows and field everyone was again excited.

"What's that he's saying?" Jenny Wren asked her neighbor, Mrs. Robin Redbreast.

"You see it—you know it—do you hear me? Do you believe it," sang the voice.

"Gracious! He must have discovered someone's secret," chirped Jenny Wren. "I wonder if he's discovered who stole Mrs. Yellow Bird's eggs? Do you suppose that's what he's chattering about? I hope not, for I wanted to get the reward Mr. Yellow Bird offered."

"Do you believe it? Do you see it?" came across the orchard.

"Oh, dear! I don't know about you, Mrs. Robin Redbreast," mused Jenny Wren, "but I, for one, can't stand the suspense. I'm going to find out what he's found out." And away she sailed right up to the very limb on which Daddy Red-eyed Vireo was sitting.

"You see it—you know it—do you believe it? Do you hear me?" ended Daddy Red-eyed Vireo, doffing his little gray cap as Mrs. Jenny Wren settled beside him. "Do you believe it?"

"Good!" exclaimed Jenny Wren. "Tell me where he put the eggs and who stole them and I'll divide the reward with you. You know, Mr. Yellow Bird is quite a free giver and it won't be——"

"Who said anything about Mr. Yellow Bird, neighbor?" chuckled Daddy Red-eyed Vireo, his little red eyes snapping. "Why is he giving any reward? What's happened that he offers a reward?"

"What's happened! What's happened! What's happened?" Jenny Wren fairly screamed. "That's what we're all waiting to learn. We've been trying to answer your questions this long time. Do tell us what you've been chattering about. We're all upset."

"Goodness gracious!" laughed Daddy Red-eyed Vireo. "You see it—you know it—do you hear me? Do you believe it? It's going to be a nice day to-morrow if it doesn't rain." And Daddy Red-eyed Vireo spread his greenish-yellow wings and sailed away, laughing.

Jenny Wren tried to look unconcerned as she sailed back to Robin Redbreast, but he knew by the way she tore the straws out of her nest that she was out of sorts, so he flew away.

"It serves me right for not minding my own business," Jenny Wren mused.

Madge Used Her Eyes Leaving the House.

I STARED in amazement at the course the shrewd-faced young driver of little Mrs. Bird's car was taking. To my eyes he seemed to be heading straight toward the gentle declivity at the back of her grounds which hid the bay from us, and which I was sure held no possible track for any vehicle. At our left, dividing the place from that of the nearest neighbor, was thick and high evergreen hedge, a continuation of the one screening the house. This appeared to stop at the underbrush which grew at the bottom of the hill. But just as we reached the end of the hedge the driver swerved his car sharply to the left, and drove it skilfully through a narrow opening made by taking out two of the evergreens. We came out upon a rough bramble-strewn path which had had ashes strewn over it, but which would have been hard going for any kind of car save the light, sturdy variety in which I was seated.

"This isn't very good going," the driver volunteered, "but it's a short cut in good weather. The deliverymen to these houses along here use it quite a lot, for the people don't like to have cars drive into their front gates."

The explanation was a lame one, but redeemed by the fact that we met a grocery cart and a meat wagon on the rutty and spring-menacing path. I fancied, however, that there was some sort of signaled communication among the three drivers, and wondered if the deliveries of the marketmen were not made upon the inconvenient route purposely to give an excuse for the occasional journeys of Mrs. Bird's car.

Madge's Careful Scrutiny.

Scoring myself for my too vivid imagination, yet I resolved to observe closely every incident of the journey. Lillian had said that the woman to whom she was sending us was extremely resourceful, and everything which she had done so far proved my friend's assertion. I felt that our expedition was safe in such hands, and I promised myself much pleasure in watching the details of Mrs. Bird's forethought as they should appear.

The hill which shut us off from the bay gradually sloped down to the level, and soon I was able to see the distant water across meadows covered with the dried stalks of what in the Summer I knew must be a lush growth. There seemed to be no way of approach to the water across the meadows, but about half way between the water and the houses, at the rear of whose grounds we were traveling, there appeared at long intervals several small, squatty little buildings.

"What are those?" I asked, indicating them to the driver.

He gave them a brief glance, and looked at me speculatively. I guessed that it was his practice to emulate Tatty Coram, whom Dickens made immortal, and "count five and twenty" before committing himself to any statement, no matter how innocuous.

"Boathouses," he said unconcernedly.

"Boathouses!" I repeated incredulously. "Why the water is a long distance from them."

To the Main Thoroughfare.

"Low tide now." He evidently scorned the use of superfluous words. "Creeks in there. Each boathouse on head of one of the creeks. At high tide, boats can come and go."

"How far?"

"To Europe if they want to," he answered shortly. "Almost anywhere from here."

"The land looks swampy between here and there," I ventured after a few seconds silence.

"'Tis," he returned, and his teeth clicked a he bit off the word in a manner which needed no interpreter to me. He was tired of the interrogation, and I knew better than to question him further.

He had driven very slowly along the rough path, evidently with regard for his car, but when we finally came to the end of it, and emerged on a short street, which in turn gave us entrance after a block or two on a wide boulevard, he increased his speed perceptibly.

I knew approximately where we were and was not surprised to have him turn upon another winding road which led us back to the broad thoroughfare which is Flushing's pride, and which leads, with but few aggravations for motorists to the Queensboro Bridge. Down this we drove, at as fast a pace as the driver dared, or so I surmised, and so across the bridge. At the first opportunity past the bridge, he drew the car up to the curb, stopped and put a crisp question:

"Where to, now?"

YOUR HEALTH

Retain a Child's Confidence During Adolescent Period

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

I ONCE heard a most sensible woman say that since her two children were approaching the teens, she found no time for anything besides the "mother job."

I thought she was joking and reminded her of her many activities while they were still babies. "Yes," she answered, "but now the job is a much more absorbing matter than colic and bottles. Any intelligent woman can care for a baby, but it takes prayer and fasting to look after a growing boy and girl."

That woman was right. I wish more parents of growing children could realize how important the "parent job" really is.

Never in all their lives do boys and girls need the constant care of an understanding parent more than they do from the age of about ten to fifteen or sixteen, or even older. What happens to them, and how they take what happens to them, at this age may not only affect permanently their physical health, it may determine to a large extent how they are going to meet ups and downs which are bound to come to them in later life.

What makes the "parent job" most difficult at this stage is the fact that, as a rule, adolescent boys and girls are not given to talking about their feelings and their symptoms, especially to their elders.

But the difficulty of the job is no excuse for failure in its accomplishment. It is the manifest duty of the parent to find out and to understand. Ignorance here is in itself a sin, not an excuse.

A difficult part of the "mother job" at this time is to keep the child's mind in a healthy condition by sane interests, moderate occupation, freedom from the strain of overstudy, worry, or responsibility, the avoidance of shocks, excitement, morbid fears, and unwholesome thoughts.

Explain her own physiology frankly to your daughter, and encourage her to discuss with you all her symptoms, "queer" feelings, and perplexities. Teach her how to take care of her body. Discourage any morbid sensitiveness or brooding over little affronts or failures, or trivial ups and downs. One of the common mistakes of adolescence is to take everything too seriously—except the things which really are serious.

This part of the "parent job" applies equally to the care of the adolescent boy. No boy has a fair chance in life if he has to go through this critical period without a sensible parent as a confidant and guide.

Just here I cannot resist adding a word of warning to over ambitious parents. It is really a small matter whether or not little Johnny or Mary "makes a grade" in school each year, between the ages of ten and sixteen or seventeen. It is a vital matter that the child shall have a sound body to carry his sound mind throughout these years—and afterwards. It is far better to take the child out of school entirely for a while, at the first sign of loss of weight, anemia, sleeplessness, irritability, or unusual moodiness. It is better to do this than to run past these danger signals for the sake of a brilliant school record with the risk of a breakdown later.

Keep in touch with your doctor and discuss all the unusual symptoms with him. But in nine cases out of ten, you, Mother, will have to act as interpreter between the doctor and the little patient.

Answers to Health Questions

D. B. Q.—How can one determine whether the tonsils are diseased? Very frequently white substances form on my tonsils and appear to be imbedded in them. When they come out, they leave small holes. My tonsils are very spongy. I am not troubled with a sore throat, however. What causes this condition?

2.—What effect can diseased tonsils have on the system?

A.—Judging from your symptoms, your tonsils are diseased. It would probably be best to have them removed.

2.—Diseased tonsils cause many bodily ills, such as rheumatism and neuralgia, and cause a generally run-down system.

MRS. L. S. Q.—I have been suffering from swollen and itching limbs. Will you kindly tell me what causes this?

A.—This may be caused by varicose veins or acid in the system. If varicose veins are present, wear an elastic stocking or bandage and massage, gently, with warm witch-hazel. Have a urinalysis made. This may show the cause.

A. B. C. Q.—Will you kindly tell me whether or not touching the floor with my fingers, without bending my knees, will tend to make me grow taller?

A.—Yes, this is a very good stretching exercise. Why not join a gymnasium and place yourself under the direction of a physical instructor who will outline a course of exercise for you?

* * *

S. O. S. Q.—Will you kindly tell me whether or not it is harmful to eat frozen food, such as vegetables and fruits?

A.—No, it is not harmful to eat frozen fruits or vegetables, but they are not as appetizing or digestible.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By MARK STUYVESANT

An Intrepid Wife in Darkest Africa.

IN 1821 in London was born Sir Samuel Baker, a man who, perhaps, did more to stamp out the traffic in slaves in Africa than any other individual of his time.

Sir Samuel was a traveler. Among his exploits was the founding of a settlement in Ceylon and the organizing of a sanatorium there which was of great help to the natives.

He was in the Turkish railway service when his interests were diverted to Egypt, where he conducted an expedition up the Blue Nile region and afterward discovered Lake Albert Nyanza.

It was while engaged in his explorations in Egypt that he was put in command of several thousand soldiers by the Khedive of Egypt for the purpose of breaking up the slave trade in Central Africa.

This was no easy task, for the Egyptian officials in charge of the Sudan were making enormous sums of money in this human traffic. Even before Sir Samuel had started on his journey many obstacles were put in his way.

But Sir Samuel was a man of high spirit and unconquerable determination. And his wife, Lady Baker, was a woman possessing the very same qualities of character. For on all his daring adventures Lady Baker accompanied her husband.

At the outset of the journey, even nature seemed to combine with his enemies to thwart Sir Samuel's plans. For they had no sooner embarked than the river fell so low that navigation was impossible for the steamers which were to carry his troops and transport animals.

So they were forced to push on without one single beast of burden.

But this did not discourage the brave leader and his courageous wife. They continued their pilgrimage and reached their destination, having discovered many hundreds of slaves being smuggled to trading centers and rescuing them from a life of misery successfully.

Sir Samuel and Lady Baker cleared up many difficulties in this wild country and made the astounding discovery that not only were the representatives of Sudan trading in human life, but that officials in Egypt in the very offices of the government were a party to this miserable traffic.

Great were the difficulties with which this splendid couple had to cope—mutiny among their own troops, treachery from natives on whom they relied, fever, drought and famine. But they were not discouraged. Even under gunfire and in the greatest possible danger, Lady Baker was her husband's companion and support. And all the while she was giving aid and comfort to the blacks whom she found in misery.

It is interesting to know that Lady Baker was the first white woman to penetrate into these hitherto unknown parts of Africa, and that it was largely due to her fortitude and courage that her husband was able to accomplish the work which he had set out to do. For he did abolish slavery in the parts of Africa which he visited and from that time those same parts have been free from that evil.

Of Sir Samuel Baker, Livingstone said:

"He is now employed in a more noble work than the discovery of the Nile sources, and, if he succeeds in suppressing the slave trade, the boon he will bestow on humanity will be of far higher value than all my sources together."

And so helpful was Lady Baker to this great man that at the close of the book which Sir Samuel wrote on the expedition, he says:

"I must acknowledge the able assistance that I have received in common with every person connected with the inland expedition, from my wife, who cared for the sick when we were without medical men, and whose gentle aid brought relief to many whose strength might have otherwise failed."

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1.—What would you do if a young man who brought you home kissed you and then walked quickly down the street? He acts queerly now and I do not know how to treat him.

2.—There is a young man in this town who has a bad reputation. He is always asking me to go somewhere with him. He always treats me nicely and I do not know what to do. Should I go out with him? H.F.

H. F.—The young man probably thinks that you are angry with him and for that reason does not know how to act. It was, indeed, impudent for him to take such a liberty. If he has at all other times treated you with respect, I suggest that you be amiable when you meet him. Avoid a repetition of the incident.

2.—You should have your parents meet this young man and ask them for their advice in the matter.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl seventeen years old. A young man proposed to me and as my sister, who is younger than I, does not like him, I refused him. I regret it now as I love him dearly. Was I right in refusing him? KITTY.

KITTY—Yes, my dear, you were wise to refuse the young man's proposal, but you should have offered him your friendship. You are far too young to undertake the responsibilities of married life and even too young to know whether you are in love. However, if you wish to regain the young man's friendship, invite him to your home.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I am considered good looking by my friends and receive invitations to go out from many young men. I go out with one young man several times, and then I grow tired of him. This has happened several times. Please tell me how to overcome this. BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES—It is wise, of course, for you to have many young men friends. But if you will make real friends, you will not tire of them, my dear. Friendship is founded on mutual interests and understandings, and not merely "good times." A girl in her teens should have friends—not beaux. If you look beneath the surface, you will find many young men friends who will hold your interest.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

THE gift of privacy is one of our most valuable birthrights but unfortunately it is one of the things in family life that seem impossible. But parents should always bear in mind that unless they recognize their children's desire to be alone at times, they cannot expect children to respect their wishes in this respect.

Privacy is a necessity to every one. We must have it at least some time during each day in order to grow mentally and to think our own thoughts. Busy mothers who often long for a little time to themselves to think out their various problems never seem to arrange for the time. Few seize a few moments and insist that they be undisturbed, although it is their privilege to do so.

Wherever possible, every child should have a bedroom before he reaches the age of eight. He should be taught to take care of his room and make it attractive, using and showing his own taste in doing so. Then, when the child closes his door it is very easy to knock, thus respecting his rights as we wish ours respected. Children have their thoughts, their ideals and their ambitions and only in privacy when the spirit moves them can these be worked out.

If the family have unexpected visitors to entertain it is an old custom to make children give up their room. We all know how uncomfortable and disconcerting it is to be routed out in this manner, to wander about with your intimate belongings under your arm waiting for folks to go to bed so you may camp on the parlor couch and spend most of the night rescuing the bed clothes from the floor. In town overnight guests are practically an impossibility in small living quarters, but in the country friends sometimes are inclined to flung themselves upon you at their convenience. They may think that Bobby or Sally does not mind giving up his or her room for a few days. But Bobby and Sally do mind and unless there is some special reason for it they should not be asked to make this sacrifice.

A woman once said that she never knew how attractive her place was until cherry season, because her friends always appeared then with baskets and helped themselves. She was forced to put a sign up saying that the fruit was "for sale" at the general market price and a number of the friends melted away. Some tried it out to see if she meant it, but the real friends paid, and were glad to do so, for the fresh fruit. So if we have no free beds we soon learn who the real friends are, for they will insist upon being put up in any old place just to have a little visit with us.

While we are on the subject of privacy, let us speak of our young people's mail. In many families if a youngster gets a letter the whole family want to know all about it. If the child is out, a parent will even open it, pass it around among the other members of the family and thus violate one of the first laws of privacy. If a parent has not gained the confidence of his child, this is a poor means of getting it. If, however, their rights are respected, no doubt the letter will be read to those interested, or at least be talked over with Mother.

Young people appreciate consideration, though they do not always speak of it at the time.

If, for instance, a child has a deformity, or peculiarity of speech, the family should not discuss it, and keep reminding the child of it. Their neighbors will soon begin to overlook it and that will be a long step toward its possible correction. Kindly consideration solves the very difficult problem of people of different temperaments living together.

If a disobedient child is sent to his room to think the matter over in privacy he will generally come to the right solution of the problem and be willing to talk it over in time with the one in authority and not in the midst of the family. In this way a fair understanding will be the result. A few minutes privacy is worth more than hours of argument and punishment. Try it, mothers, and see if this is not so.

The only illiterates in Germany are mentally defective people or idiots, constituting only about one-fifth of one per cent. of the population. Nearly five per cent. of the French people are illiterate. Using the same tests for literacy, six per cent. of the people in the United States are illiterate. In Switzerland and the Netherlands illiterates compose about one-half of one per cent. of the people, while in England, Scotland and Wales one and a half per cent. of the people are classed as illiterate. According to the 1920 census, two-fifths of the illiterates in the United States are foreign born.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Two Interesting Overblouses Hold Her Attention.

MADAME has been more busy than usual lately, designing overblouses. She had done at least one new one each day.

"Various fashion trends have certainly combined to bring the smart blouse into more favor than ever," she said to-day.

"Are the tuck in blouses as much worn as the overblouse models?" I asked.

"Well, they are much in demand for wear with smart two-piece tailored suits," Madame replied. "But there are overblouses. They really are more important, though the regular blouse is more in demand than it was a year or so ago."

"I think about the best frocks for active sports wear are the ones that combine a skirt with a plain overblouse," I remarked.

"Yes, the overblouses on middie lines, the ones that curve in slightly to fit the hips, are comfortable and attractive for sports," Madame agreed.

"They're smart in crepe de Chine and flannel, with pleated or wrap-across skirts," I noted.

"I don't think there's any blouse more effective than the plain white crepe de Chine one," Madame said, fingering one of her sketches lovingly.

"May I see it?" I asked.

She showed me a charming sketch of a plain white overblouse made with simple Peter Pan collar. There was a neck slit, fastened with two groups of tiny pearl buttons.

"The feature of this is the silk stitching that outlines a vestee at the front," Madame said. "You know the smart vestees, like a man's shirt-front, are very smart."

"That is lovely. Plain white is so flattering to most everybody," I remarked. "But what is this unusual blouse sketched below?" I asked.

"Oh, that's just a perfectly plain white silk overblouse, over which is worn a little jumper jacket made from a Deauville 'kerchief," Madame told me.

"Clever idea," I remarked.

"They are quite unusual here," Madame replied.

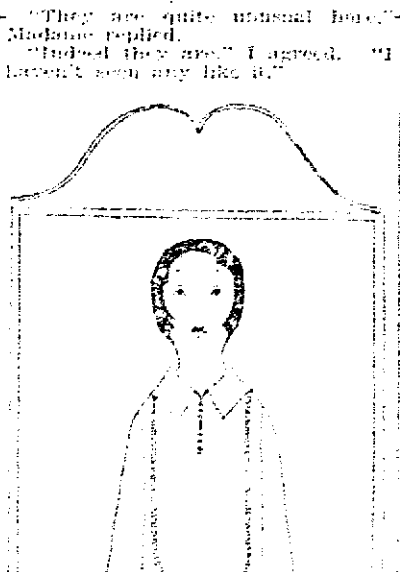

"Indeed they are," I agreed. "I haven't seen any like it."

"I saw one like it in Deauville," Madame said. "So the idea isn't really my own. One of the clients who had seen it too asked me to make her one.

"She had a lovely green and blue and white 'kerchief, bordered in blue," Madame said. "I made this so the blue border is rather narrow at the lower part of the front opening and cleped in to almost nothing at the neckline."

"I should think everyone who has a big colorful 'kerchief would adopt the idea and make a little sleeveless jumper," I remarked.

"Well, 'kerchiefs and scarfs and capes of any kind undoubtedly add interesting color touches," Madame said. "Any woman can make the simplest garment most becoming if she adds the right color in her neck 'kerchief."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, MARCH 7.

A rather quiet day is presaged from the dominant lunar and mutual figures. Under the mutual aspect of Sol to Saturn, the tendency may be toward depression. This should be overcome and attention be given to the health, which may react to the astral ruling in the tendency to congestion or lowered vitality. Those in the employment of others should be careful, as they are under an adverse sway. But it is a good time for writings and publishing.

Those whose birthday it is are under a rather depressing sway of the planets which may cause worry or anxiety. They should remain cheerful and attend to their health. Those in the employment of others should be careful. A child born on this day will have a quick and clever mind, but may be inclined to worry. It should be trained to overcome this and be given an optimistic outlook.

News From the Training Camp

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 6.—The "Rookie" shortstop, Glen Wright will be lead-off man this year for the Pirates as was shown when Skipper McKechnie chose the Kansan as first man up for the Regulars in the first practice game of the season here today. Eddie Moore will top the batters for the Yannigans.

Ray Kremer, the southpaw and Emil Hyde will pitch for the Regulars and the Yannigans will have Ra Steinder and Herbert May on the mound.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6 Connie Mack declared tday he would permit Frank Bruggy to share catching responsibility with Perkins this coming season.

"I promised him more work." the manager of the Athletics declared.

LEESBURG, Fla., March 6.—Manager Fletcher of the Phillies was smiling from ear to ear today from pleasure over the condition in which his outfield and infield men reported yesterday.

Johnnie Mokan, who walloped the ball for .317 last season was in togs today expressing the belief he would bat around .345 this baseball year.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 6.—The kinks worked out of their arms and surplus weight worked off, Cleveland's pitching staff will leave the Springs tomorrow for Lakeland, Fla., where the full team is to be reported for spring training Monday.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—Dutch Reuther, star left hander, continued to substitute at first base in the Brooklyn Dodgers' infield today in the absence of Jack Furnier, who has been granted permission to remain away from camp until March 15.

The infield development is being further retarded by the failure of Johnny Jones, Portland shortstop, to report. Jones is holding out for a cut of his purchase price, said to have been $25,000.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 6.—Fred Clarke, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, again lent his aid today in attempting to make a hitter out of Hinkey Haines, substitute outfielder with the New York Yankees. Haines, a former football star, with Penn State, is one of the fastest men in the major leagues and a fine fielder but hasn't been able to hit big time pitching.

Miller Huggins was also putting in much time with another ex-collegian. The latter is Lou Gehrig, Columbia University first baseman, who can hit but cannot field.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 6.—An epidemic of sore arms made its appearance in the camp of the New York Giants today.

Catcher [illegible] Snyder and Bill Terry, recruit first baseman from Toledo being the victims. They were excused from the practice game scheduled for this afternoon as were many of the regulars.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6.—The Braves underwent two hard practice sessions at their training camp here and Manager Bancroft is well pleased. Exhibition games will start before the end of the week.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 6—Steve O'Neil, Jack Quinn, and Harris have joined the Red Sox. The squad had workouts in different shifts, the rookies having first practice, followed by the veterans.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., March 6.—Ed. Walsh has established a finishing school for White Sox pitching hopes. The squad is advancing rapidly, under a mid-summer sun.

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., March 6.—Manager Bill Killifer has switched his attention to outfielders, preparatory to the week-end skirmishes of the Cubs with the Vernon Tigers of the Coast League.

BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 6.—Milton Stock, regular third baseman of the Cardinals is the only player not signed up and in camp.

Jim Bottomly, first baseman, who has been sick at his home, is due to arrive here today.

MOBILE, Ala., March 6.—Urban Shocker, the Browns' pitching ace arrived here and immediately started work. He looks underweight but says he is feeling fine. The recruit pitchers were given a long workout in fielding bunts.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 6.—"Buckeye" Harris the new manager of the Senators is nothing if not cocky. He said today that Washington pitchers this season are going to pitch to Babe Ruth whenever he comes to bat. Harris said examination of the records will show that passing Ruth to get Wally Pipp is bad business, and expressed the belief that Pipp was a more dangerous man in a pinch than the Babe.

Large Crops Grown In Ohio Greenhouses

Ohio leads all the states in the production of vegetables in greenhouses. The Census reports more than 19 million square feet of glass under which a total annual crop valued at $7,052,360 was grown in 1919. Of this amount $2,740,686 was for vegetables.

This industry began in the State in 1894 when vegetables were first grown in the greenhouses at the Ohio Experiment Station. The Station has kept in close touch with the industry from the start. The experiments in soil fertility, in the use of different crops and in adapting strains to greenhouse conditions and in devising methods for control of plant diseases and insect pests of the forcing house have aided in building up the industry.

Lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, muskmelons, spinach water cress, kohlrabi, and bush beans are the vegetables most largely grown and studied in the Station experiments.

New greenhouses will be erected at the Station this year so that this work may be greatly enlarged.

BURTON GROOMED FOR DENBY POST

WASHINGTON, March 6—Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, veteran of more than a quarter of century's service in Congress, and once a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, loomed up today as a likely successor to Edwin Denby as Secretary of the Navy.

Ohioans are bringing strong pressure to bear on President Coolidge to make the appointment.

ICE CREAM MEN NAME CHAIRMAN

COLUMBUS, March 6—L. L. Montel, Marion, was chosen chairman of a newly-formed district organization of ice cream manufacturers for 10 central Ohio counties at a meeting here late Wednesday. The proposed federal amendment on ice cream standard requiring the same in Ohio—a minimum of 20 percent total milk solids of which at least eight percent must be butter fat was endorsed.

MELILLA AFIRE

GIBRALTAR, March 6—Melilla, base of Spanish military operations in Morocco, was reported in flames today. It was said to have been set afire by shells from the Riff tribesmen'sartillery.

Appetite Gone?

A tempting, delicious looking meal—all the choicest morsels from a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things failing to put a keen edge on your appetite—failing to arouse, in any degree, a hardy relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why?

Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravishly sought to recharge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetising things nauseates them.

Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chaloupka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—the keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S. S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for yourself. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

Democrats Will Make Issue of Coolidge's Refusal to Grant Independence to Philippines

WASHINGTON, March 6. [illegible] Democrats will make an issue [illegible] President Coolidge's refusal [illegible] prove the request of the senate [illegible] and house of representatives [illegible] the Philippine Islands for [illegible] tablishment of independence [illegible]

For 26 years the Filipinos have [illegible] tion, culture, economic and political capacity."

Just when the Filipinos will measure up to these standards is not difficult to guess—probably never in the life time of any of the present Filipino leaders. For, if the truth be known, the United States does not consider that many of the smaller Latin-American countries have reached the American standard. The Filipinos, on the other hand think they are further advanced than Haiti [illegible] [illegible] republic [illegible] [illegible] as [illegible] these nations have [illegible] independence. Cuba with [illegible] [illegible] of the United States wants [illegible] [illegible] to attain [illegible] they are ready to sign treaties enabling the United States to intervene in case of disorder or interference with American property interests.

The basic factor in the question of Philippine independence is materialistic. The business interests in the Philippines are united in their opposition to independence. Certain shipping interests believe they can accomplish more by keeping the Philippines a part of the United States so that some day the trade between the United States and the islands will be included under the coastwise shipping laws, thus enabling the United States to discriminate against foreign vessels, particularly the Japanese.

Governor General Wood is known to be in sympathy with the business interests which fear their property would be jeopardized or at least rendered less valuable without the strong military arm of the American government.

There are men in the United States who have said in debate that the Filipinos will never be ready for independence. Mr. Coolidge's statement reflects the argument made most often by those who do not wish to see the United States relinquish its hold on the Philippines at anytime certainly not in the present generation.

The Filipinos, however, will not cease their agitation. They will clamor for independence as long as they can make themselves heard. Preparations are under way for an extensive campaign in the United States to win the sympathy of public opinion. The Democrats during their control of congress went on record in favor of independence and nearly got a bill thru the senate after it had passed the house. Also the Democrats under the Wilson administration by means of the Jones bill extended to the Filipinos a greater measure of governmental autonomy than they had previously enjoyed. The friction between Leonard Wood and the Filipinos has developed largely over the application of the Jones law with many of the provisions of which General Wood is not in sympathy. He has publicly advocated their amendment.

The Republican national platform will in all probability follow the lines of President Coolidge's latest pronouncement while the Democrats will pledge themselves if elected to grant independence to the Philippines within a specified period.

Don't Pay $1,000 or More

for a car, without knowing what the leader offers in the fine-car field

WE made a canvass of many who bought rivals of Studebakers. We said, "Tell us why you liked your car the better."

The majority said, "We did not even look at the Studebaker." Most of them bought new models of the car they owned before.

Yet Studebaker is a leader in the fine-car field today. Studebaker builds more quality cars than any other plant in the world.

Studebaker is the sensation of modern Motordom. Its amazing growth signifies a new situation in this field.

Last year, 145,167 fine-car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars. Nearly three times as many as in 1920.

Is it fair to yourself—or fair to us—not to learn the reasons for this trend?

Facts to consider

Studebaker assets are $90,000,000 — all staked on satisfying, better than others, buyers of high-grade cars.

Over 23,000 men have their future at stake on giving you maximum values.

$50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment, of which $32,000,000 has been added during the past five years.

$10,000,000 in body plants to give you superlative beauty. To give that final touch for which Studebakers have been famous for decades.

125 experts who devote their whole time to studying betterments. Who make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

Consider Studebaker history. For 72 years this concern has stood for high principles and policies.

For two generations, against all the world, it held first place in horse-drawn vehicles.

Now for years its name and fame have been committed to like attainments in fine motor cars.

If you only knew

There is no room here for details and comparisons. You will find them all in Studebaker showrooms. But let us cite some significant facts.

That lack of vibration, so conspicuous in Studebakers, costs us $600,000 yearly in extra machining of crank shafts.

That matchless strength in vital parts comes from the costliest steels. For some we add 15% to the quoted price to get exactness in them.

That Chase Mohair, used in our closed cars, is made from the soft fleece of Angora goats. Cotton or ordinary wool, or a combination of both, could reduce our price $100 to $150 per car, but it would sacrifice Studebaker quality.

Note the bumpers, the steel trunk, the extra cord tires, the motometer, the courtesy light on some models. Figure what they would cost as extras.

The infinite care

We use 35 formulas for steel, each worked out to exactness for supreme service in its place.

We employ 1,200 inspectors to make 30,000 inspections of the material and workmanship in each Studebaker car — before it leaves the factory.

Consider how Studebaker has always led in the building of high-grade cars. We were first to use cord tires as standard equipment. We were the first quantity manufacturers to build bodies of the highest grade.

If you want beauty, fine upholstery, rich finish and equipment, consider that Studebaker has had more experience in fine coach building than any other motor car maker.

Our place no accident

The pedestal place which Studebaker holds in the fine-car field is not the result of accident. It comes from principles as old as this business—the ceaseless and determined ambition to excel.

Learn the result of these efforts. Compare detail by detail, part by part, with any car you wish. When you foot the advantages, you will find that they number scores.

These are facts you should know. They are inducing 150,000 per year to choose Studebaker cars.

Some sell at $1,045. Some meet with every requirement in size and power and luxury. But the chassis are all alike, save in size. The same steels, the same standards throughout. Every important Studebaker part represents the best we know.

People have learned these facts—hundreds of thousands of them. The demand for Studebakers has almost trebled in three years. It has become overwhelming, even for our facilities.

Investigate the reasons. You will find them by the scores. Then, if you choose a rival car, we shall have nothing more to say.

See the Studebakers

Studebaker builds more fine cars than any other plant in the world.

Last year 145,167 wise motor car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebakers.

The demand has almost trebled in the past three years. Studebaker now holds a leading place in the high-grade field.

Our modern plants and their equipment cost $50,000,000. All to give you the maximum value at the minimum of cost.

It is folly to buy a car in this class without knowing what we give.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.
